CHAFFEY UNION TO BE FOREMOST OF HIGH SCHOOLS IN SOU. CALIFORNIA

E. C. HARWOOD ADDRESSES FACULTY AND PUPILS AT ASSEMBLY

Miss Moremen Pleases With Her Singing. Fifteen Service Men Enrolled. Class Rooms Are Crowded at Present.

Chaffey Union High School and Junior College of Agriculture are closing the first week of the school year of 1919-1920 with a registration of nearly 700 pupils, an increase of about 20 per cent over last year. The senior class will number a hundred; the junior registration passed the one hundred twenty-five mark yesterday; the sophomore classes are crowded with more than a hundred and fifty young people, while the freshman class will soon have two hundred twenty-five members. Fifteen service men were registered in one group in the college of agriculture, and several other army and navy men have returned to school work. Chaffey especially welcomes these men, and will be glad to have other men who have finished their engagements with the army, share in the advantages the school can offer. The Junior College of Agriculture will have a membership of a hundred this year.

Enthusiasm at First Assembly. The largest student assembly ever held formally opened the work of the school year on Monday. The auditorium was crowded to the doors. S. Earle Blakelee led in the singing of "America," after the devotional service.

Edward C. Harwood, president of the board of trustees since the union high school was formed, extended greetings from the people of the greater Chaffey district.

"It is a great privilege to be here as I am, representing the communities that have built these buildings, created these facilities, and elected this faculty."

"This year it is an especial privilege, for I can speak, not alone for Ontario and Upland, but also for Alta Loma, Central, Cucamonga, Etiwanda, Mountain View and Piedmont who, as you know, are now partners in our school."

"I bring words of welcome—words of hope and congratulation for this larger student body. I bring words of happiness that today the war is over. No longer are thousands of the world's finest young men giving up their lives each day on the battlefield."

"Your opportunities at Chaffey are many. The opportunity for physical development is important. You can develop a strong body, ready for every test of life."

"You have opportunities for forming friendships that will last throughout your lives, friendships that will broaden your vision and strengthen your characters."

"You have opportunities for the development of citizenship and knowledge, that you may do your part in coming days to make this country truly a land of liberty and peace."

Upland Singer Pleases. Upland again shared in the program when Miss Geneva Moremen sang. Seldom has Miss Moremen appeared to better advantage than in her first number, "Roses in Picardy." The students were rewarded for their insistent encore with the little bit, "Lonesome, That's All." We are justly proud of Miss Moremen's sweet voice, and her simplicity of manner makes a pleasing background to the melody.

Miss Marion Cornelius greeted the new pupils in the name of the upper classmen and old students. She expressed the hope that every one would feel the true spirit of Chaffey—the spirit of cooperation, teamwork, helpfulness. Miss Cornelius has been an outstanding leader throughout her school life, and is the president of the class of 1920.

First Appearance of Prof. Zoellner. The great assembly was hushed as Amandus Zoellner, professor of violin, played with master touch the mystic, appealing air of the "Chanson Indonee," by Korsakoff. For his second number Mr. Zoellner favored the students with the "Pirrot Serenade," by Randecker, and for an encore "Garotte," by Gossec.

Mr. Zoellner comes to Chaffey from Pomona college. He is a member of the widely known Zoellner Quartet, and will add much to the music of the community.

MONDAY, 22ND, THE LAST DAY OF GRACE FOR HEADLIGHTS

Chief County Traffic Officer Says Law Will Be Strictly Enforced and Gives Some Pointers on Points Not Clear.

The time of grace for compliance with the state's new headlight law expires on Monday of next week, yesterday announced Jay Boone, chief of the county's traffic squad. "There are many machines which are not yet equipped with the state law requires, and it is absolutely certain that prosecutions will begin on September 22," said Boone. "The county officers will begin arrests immediately after the period of grace expires, on September 22, in all cases where headlights do not comply with the law."

Boone explained several of the uncertain points that have developed since the law went into effect. Presto lights can be used provided they are equipped with a three-quarter foot burner.

Spot lights must positively be set so they cannot be raised from the driver's seat, and set so that the rays will fall 42 inches high at a distance of 100 feet ahead of the car. Ford cars do not have to be equipped with battery, but must be equipped with the proper lenses or the globes limited to 10 candle power and set so there will be a four-foot tilt in 100 feet.

DEATH ANGEL CALLS DAUGHTER HOME

The death angel once again entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Creighton yesterday morning at 9 o'clock and took therefrom Florence Emma Creighton, youngest daughter.

For several days the little girl hovered between life and death, and for a time it looked as though she would recover, but her strength was not sufficient to withstand the inroads of the disease.

Most sincere sympathy goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Creighton, who within the past ten days have lost two of their children with scarlet fever.

Florence Emma Creighton was born in Upland October 15th, 1912.

The funeral service, which was private, was held at Bellevue cemetery today at 3:30 p. m. pupils of the great registration, promised the cooperation of every teacher with the pupils, and urged each student to make this year the best one of his school life.

Crowded Class Rooms. Of necessity the great increase in attendance has crowded some class rooms. In some cases textbooks are short. The first faculty meeting was held on Tuesday afternoon, and the adjustment of classes was begun. In many cases pupils can be transferred from overflow classes to other sections that have smaller registrations. New sections will be opened at once in some studies, to accommodate the overflow. Needed textbooks were ordered at once and should be on hand tomorrow.

The wisdom of providing new class rooms during the summer is very evident today, and soon every pupil will be cared for in excellent manner.

Football Enlists Scores. Eighty football suits were checked out Tuesday afternoon by Coach Fred H. Clapp, Manager E. W. Fischer and their assistants, and two dozen more suits are on the way for waiting athletes. If numbers can win a championship, Chaffey already has a secure hold on the cup. However, Coach Clapp, Walker Hall and other helpers have a life-size job on their hands. But two letter men are left from last year's peppy team, and the outfit must be built from the ground up. With a hundred men on the job, however, there is bound to be great rivalry and Chaffey will be heard from before the Citrus Belt season has ended. A series of class games and other practice affairs will precede the regular league season.

BOY SCOUT NOTICES. The Boy Scouts are to meet in the Y. M. C. A. building on Monday evening, at 7:30. On account of the inconvenient car service there will be an afternoon meeting for all who can attend, at the close of the grammar school, 3:15, Monday afternoon.

The Scout band is to begin practice again on Tuesday evening at 7:30. This will be a union band for all Scouts in the Chaffey district.

All Scouts who are interested are to come to this meeting on next Tuesday evening. It will not be necessary to be five minutes early either, but right on time. It is expected that very soon we will have a large Scout band and all well equipped for good, hard practice. Report to Mr. Stone at once if you wish to join the band.

JUST HEARD BAD NEWS OF WIL-LARD-DEMPEY FIGHT. Now what kind of an answer would you give a man who asked you when you were 50 miles from nowhere this question: "Who won the fight?"

M. L. Cook, civil engineer, had the question put up to him out in the Desert River valley, 100 miles out on the desert.

A cowpuncher, who hadn't seen or heard of civilization for months, put the question up to Cook.

The engineer spatted around a bit, and finally says "what fight?"

"Why, the Willard-Dempsey fight," says the cowpuncher.

Cook broke the sad news of the outcome of a ring battle two months and a half before.

"Oh, hell," said the cowpuncher.

Cook then broke the news that the war with Germany was over and that the country was now prohibited.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES WANT PRE-ELECTION PROMISES CARRIED TO COMPLETION

MEETING HELD IN RIVERSIDE MONDAY TO CONSIDER MATTER

$250,000 Reimbursement Due San Bernardino County. To Secure Immediate Building of Highways One Aim.

Organization of a campaign began Monday by southern counties to secure from the State of California reimbursement for money they have expended in building state highways, and to secure rapid construction of new highways, provided in the $40,000,000 state bond issue.

It became public for the first time that state officials—at least N. D. Darlington, chairman of the State Highway Commission—had put the construction on the last act that counties which have already contributed to the state highway construction would not be reimbursed. Through the entire pre-election proceedings it was understood that the counties which built portions of state highways, under the old county-aid plan, would be reimbursed.

Los Angeles county has under that plan due it $500,000, San Bernardino $250,000, Riverside $65,000, and Imperial county $40,000.

It was charged at a conference at Riverside, attended by the San Bernardino county supervisors, that Darlington understood and agreed that out of the $40,000,000 bond issue voted recently the counties would be reimbursed $250,000 for the cost of the construction of the San Bernardino-to-Summit highway, portion of the San Bernardino-to-Bartow road provided for in the $40,000,000 bond issue.

The matter was taken up thoroughly at the good roads conference held in San Francisco where the $40,000,000 program was framed, and a thorough understanding reached. The bill, however, as it passed the legislature, provided for reimbursement for roads "hereafter acquired," if they were in the two previous bond issues.

San Bernardino county contends that the state has never legally acquired the road from San Bernardino to Summit, because there was only advice from the state that it would be recommended to the executive council that the road be taken over and maintained by the state. Deeds to the right of way or formal grant have never been issued.

At the Riverside conference it was decided there should be a counties' good roads committee created in San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange, Imperial and Los Angeles counties.

Los Angeles has already been consulted and pledged aid to the campaign.

The campaign will include three movements.

To secure the immediate construction of all the roads provided for in Southern California by the $40,000,000 bond issue.

To secure the reimbursement pledged in all of the conferences.

It was announced at the conference that Mr. Darlington now has taken the stand the bill does not contemplate reimbursement to counties for work already done. The four counties of Los Angeles, Imperial, Riverside and San Bernardino were the only counties which contributed under the county-aid plan to building of roads specified in the previous bond issues. Under the new bond issue county aid is no longer asked or provided for.

The board of supervisors of each of the counties will at once name a good roads committee, which will in turn name an executive committee of three members, one to be a member of the board of supervisors. The executive committee of the four counties will then proceed, with members of the board of supervisors, to Sacramento to confer with the State Highway Commission.

If results are not secured they will request Governor William D. Stephens to meet them.

The supervisors of the four counties are considerably excited over the matter.

Chairman Flaherty of the Riverside board of supervisors presided at the joint session.

Tonight's band concert brings to a close the 1919 concert season and judging from the chilly evenings the city council planned the concerts to fit the weather conditions.

Director Wilding has prepared an excellent closing program and lovers of band music and those who enjoy the cornet will be delighted to learn that tonight a cornet solo is to be given. The program doesn't state who is to play the solo nor would Director Wilding give out the information, and so the only way to find out is to attend the concert.

The band has probably played to more people this season than ever before in its history, for not only have there been more people in Upland from surrounding towns, but the band has the reputation of being the best within a radius of 50 miles and is playing the class of music played by the first bands of the country.

Director Wilding and Manager Brest of the band desire that the News express their appreciation of the cooperation of the people of the city in making the band and the series of concerts a success and right along this line the News, in behalf of the people of the city, expresses the appreciation of the work of Messrs. Brest and Wilding and every member of the band in giving this city the best band in this section.

The program for the closing concert is as follows:

County Good Roads Committee Named

The Good Roads Committee, which is to handle the campaign to secure the $250,000 reimbursement due this county from the State Highway Commission, was Tuesday appointed by Chairman J. B. Glover of the board of supervisors, who is also ex-officio chairman of the committee.

The committeemen are: Supervisor C. E. Grier, vice chairman; and Supervisors R. L. Riley and A. B. Mulvane, members of the executive committee; Ralph E. Swing, R. C. Harbison, A. G. Kendall, W. S. Conger of San Bernardino; A. E. Isham, Lyman M. King of Redlands; W. M. Bristol, East Highland; L. V. Root of Needles; Lloyd Tierman of Bartow; C. F. Cram of Victorville; Clombie Allen of Ontario; W. J. Kincaid of Cucamonga; Ralph C. Homan of Chino; W. E. Westland of Upland; and W. A. Freemire of Ontario; J. B. Gill, San Bernardino; G. S. Hinkley, Redlands, the members of the former San Bernardino County Highway Commission; F. Hawen of Colton; W. F. Grow of Highland.

This was the committee decided upon at the Riverside conference, and which will likewise seek to hurry action on the construction of state highways in Southern California. A similar committee is being named by Los Angeles, Riverside, Orange and Imperial counties.

What has been done to them by the ruling the counties are not entitled to the reimbursements.

Several attorneys have held that under the situations as they exist the state must pay for the work the counties have done, to make good the provision of the act.

Chairman Flaherty of the Riverside board of supervisors presided at the joint session.

U. S. TO SEND MORE SOLDIERS TO EUROPE

The war department has issued instructions that recruiting activities will be resumed at once in order to secure men for service in Europe. The following telegram has been received by Major John H. Page, Jr., army recruiting officer for the San Francisco recruiting district:

"Recruiting of white applicants for American Expeditionary Force in Europe will resume at once for infantry and signal corps only, under provisions of Circular 224 war department 1919, and with the further provision that such men may be enlisted for one or three years. Enlistments for one year are restricted to applicants with prior service, under Circular 113. Men so recruited will be not retained on duty at present stations, but will be sent immediately upon reenlistment or upon expiration of reenlistment furloughs to Overseas Replacement Depot Camp Meade. Telephone operators and repair men, expert radio operators and telephone linemen are especially desired for the signal corps."

WELCOME HOME TO MEN OF UPLAND

FIRST MONTHLY MEETING OF WINTER SEASON SEPT. 25TH

Little Time Will Be Given to Discussing Winter's Plans, But Meeting Is to Be Mostly Social.

Upland's Chamber of Commerce will hold its first monthly meeting of the winter season on Thursday evening, September 25, with Messrs. George B. Harrison, C. E. Grier and O. E. Atwood the committee appointed by President W. K. Beattie to provide the program of entertainment for the evening.

The open meeting is to be a sort of "welcome home" event for many of the members and their friends have been away during the summer and along with the gathering will come first class smokes for those who smoke, cards for those who desire to play, music for those who enjoy music, coffee and other things to eat for those who eat.

A little time will be spent discussing plans for the winter's work, but the main idea of the evening will be to get acquainted. All members are urged to bring a friend, and if you know of a new man who has just come to town be sure you bring him along and get him acquainted.

The date is Thursday night, September 25, at the club rooms over the Commercial National Bank.

CHINO TO HONOR HER WAR HEROES

Plans are being formulated and carried out to the end that a fitting welcome home may be given to the Chino soldiers and sailors on Friday High School campus.

The program will begin at 6:30 with an address of welcome by Arthur O. Dillon and a response by one of the returned soldiers, Elmer Jernberg will make a short talk on army life.

The services of the Upland Band has been secured for the evening and will have a program of special merit.

Immediately following the short program there will be picnic dinner and everybody is invited to come and bring enough for more than their own party. Some of the ladies of the Red Cross will be in charge of this.

In the evening after nine o'clock there will be a dance and in all probability it will be in the Opera House, although there has been some talk of a street dance.

Every soldier and sailor and nurse in the community is most urgently requested to honor the community with their presence and those having soldier or sailor or nurse friends or relatives are requested to see that this matter is brought to their attention.

All soldiers and sailors are urged to send in their souvenirs and relics so they may be labeled and classified, Friday morning, if possible.

The committee in charge is J. C. Reher, C. F. Ten Eyck, and J. H. Vance.

NO "DAYLIGHT SAVING" AFTER OCTOBER 27

After October 27th there will be no more "daylight saving" in the United States.

President Wilson wanted it, but the American congress did not. Recently the senate, by a vote of 57 to 19, passed the repeal measure over Wilson's veto.

As similar action had been taken on the previous day in the house of representatives, the repeal becomes a law without the signature of the President.

The vote by the senate came as somewhat of a surprise, as administration officials felt they had strength enough to block the measure and sustain the veto. The result, however, proved their "count of noses" to have been wrong.

The repeal does not become effective until the expiration of the present "term of daylight saving," which was inaugurated as a war measure and which has been protective of much country.

Following the plan which was used in the past, daylight saving began approximately the first of March and ended the last of October. It advanced the clock one hour on April 1, and set the hands back with the passing of October.

While this system met with much support in the cities, the country districts were strongly opposed to it, and it was the voice of the farmer that congress largely hearkened when the final action was taken by the senate in passing the repeal measure over the veto of Mr. Wilson.

DEMON FIRE SWEEPS CANYONS—FIGHTERS RUSHED TO SCENE WASH FIRE ALSO

Boys Set Fire to Brush in Order to Catch Rabbits. Have Much Fun for While, But Now Must Go to School.

The mountain fire which, since Sunday afternoon, has been burning in San Gabriel canyon and threatened for a short time to enter San Antonio canyon, is now under control, according to U. S. Fire Warden F. H. Manker in charge of proceedings at this end of the line. Provisions and men, together with fire fighting utensils, have been going into the canyon as called for by the rangers leading the fight. Mr. Manker was assisted by Officers Sawyer and Hardy in getting fresh men on the job and 15 men to relieve the fighters were sent up the canyon today. The fire is 7 miles from the upper end of San Antonio canyon and there is no possibility of its entering San Antonio canyon, while present indications are that the fire, which for a time threatened to be one of the worst in the history of the mountains in this section, is under control. Rangers, however, believe in eternal vigilance and those in charge here are prepared for any emergency which may arise.

GOLDEN RULE IN BUSINESS

AS hard-headed a business man as John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is reported to have said a day or two since that industrial peace will never arrive until both capital and labor put into operation the golden rule. "Bolshevism is not likely to spread in the United States when the wage earner knows that capital is treating him fairly," continued Mr. Rockefeller. "Therefore, the sanest industrial policy is that which has constantly in mind the welfare of the employees as well as profits, and which, when human considerations demand it, subordinates profits to welfare."

This is the prophecy. What are the signs of its fulfillment? A dispatch of the same day announced the transfer by the Eastman Kodak Company of six million dollars' worth of stock to its older employees and the setting aside of a like amount for the newer employees as soon as they became eligible through length of service—not as a gift, but to be paid for on easy terms at par value, about one-sixth of its real value. On the same day the Endicott-Johnson Corporation of New York announced that each year henceforth, after paying a certain fixed dividend on preferred stock, the remainder of the profits shall be divided among the workers and the owners of the stock. These are not concessions with a string tied to them. If so, they would be worse than useless. And they are as complimentary to the employees as to the employers, for discontented, disloyal workmen would never inspire such expressions of good will.

Surely, these may be accepted as signs of good omen. They mark the long, long journey traveled by society since feudal lords forged an iron collar about the necks of their serfs. Are they not rainbow promises of America's immunity, as Mr. Rockefeller indicates, to Bolshevism, which, full of hate and forgetting that two wrongs never make a right, is attempting today to forge an iron collar about the neck of capitalism? The golden rule has not yet arrived, to be sure, in the industrial world. But let us remember this: when it does arrive it will be as a still, small voice. It will come in no noisy, raucous convention, but it will steal into the heart of the employer at his desk and of the artisan at his bench or lathe. It will be more enduring for the amelioration of humanity than any bargain or compact, even though it be engraved on steel and stored in a fireproof vault—Pocky Mountain News, Denver Colo.

REWARDING LLOYD GEORGE

HOW properly to reward Lloyd George for his great service to the British Empire is said to be a problem that is perplexing George V. Conferring a title has been the traditional method of expressing appreciation of service to the Empire and few Britons there have been who have not welcomed such distinction. Gladstone was great enough to decline an earldom. Despite he remained a commoner, how many titled statesmen occupy a more lofty position in the annals of British statecraft.

At this distance it is difficult to conceive of Lloyd George stalking about as a duke or earl. Such a distinction would not add a cubit to his stature. Is not the cobbler's son a greater character as a commoner than he could hope to be were he loaded with titles? The task Lloyd George assumed is a stupendous one. Doubtless he made mistakes, for no man is omniscient. Only one other man even approached him in the burden carried—the "Tiger" of France. At times he faced bitter opposition, but he never faltered. He pushed on and victory came.

Is not the record he made a greater tribute to him as a man than any honor that could be conferred by a monarch? He has ennobled himself far beyond the power of prince to add to or detract from. To include him in the peerage would not elevate him. He stands today as the greatest living representative of the democracy of England. He is an example that the highest position in the realm is not barred to the humblest man. In public estimation he outranks Britain's 700 earls, her dukes and princes. To have been Great Britain's successful Prime Minister in the prosecution of a world war is the greatest honor that can come to the distinguished Welshman. It is to be hoped that the luster of his fame will not be tarnished by yielding to the lure of a title or nobility when to remain plain David Lloyd George is the greatest dignity he can attain. His record as an administrator in the days of the nation's stress and not any title to be conferred is the foundation on which his fame will rest.—San Bernardino Sun.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT'S FIRST MOVE

WILL the Roosevelt family follow in the steps of the Adamses and Harrisons? The first move has been made, although right at this minute Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt probably has as much idea of going after the presidency as he has of an undersecretaryship in the League of Nations organization, if one is ever formed.

The Adams, father and son, reached the presidency. It is not material that John Quincy, the brilliant son of the somewhat narrow and testy sire, had to get to the White House via the House of Representatives' vote. The thing is, he was President! The Harrisons, grandfather and grandson, reached the presidency, but the tenure of that distinguished Virginia-Ohio-Indiana family was not as long with two Presidents as with one Roosevelt in the most exalted position in Christendom. The brilliant Indian fighter and Whig campaigner, William Henry, died within a month after taking the oath. The grandson, Benjamin, the somewhat cold politician but acute lawyer, had four years. Theodore Roosevelt was President seven and one-half years. The scholarly Massachusetts family had the office eight years.

Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt's initial step is exactly similar to that taken by his distinguished father 35 years ago. The Theodore Roosevelt of that day was induced by the Republican leaders of the then twenty-first district (Central Park) to take the assembly nomination. It was one of the very few G. O. P. districts in New York City, which was then confined to Manhattan Island and some acreage across the Harlem river. Roosevelt displayed his qualities of leadership immediately after taking his seat at Albany.

His first and second terms were under Democratic speakers. His third and last term was under the venerable wool spinner, Titus Sheard, who was given a hot fight by the young New Yorker before he won the gavel. Sheard was glad enough to accord handsome recognition to his opponent, and the best in his gift was at Roosevelt's command. The member from the twenty-first New York went to his home city and investigated its government as then administered by the Democrats who were largely under the thumb of the Tammany boss, John Kelly. Roosevelt by exposing the defects of the city administration became a national figure at once. He was fearless and persistent. Young as he was, the Republican organization of the state accepted him as a delegate at large to the national convention at Chicago. He won the chairmanship of the delegation and urged the nomination of George F. Edmunds, of Vermont.

He let things slide politically for nearly two years, then he came out as the Republican nominee for mayor of his native city. He was never in the hunt, and the night of election he felt that politics as a party nominee was not his field. He changed his mind 12 years later when he won the governorship and began to head for the presidency in the early morning after the election when the late returns spelled victory for him.

His eldest son will very probably sit in the assembly of 1920 as a member from the county of Nassau. The people of the Oyster Bay section have practically drafted him to run. His election is reasonably sure. If he cuts the figure in the lower house at Albany that the public has a right to expect, it is more than possible that his party will be glad to nominate him for governor in September of the year coming. It will take such a man as Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt to cut into the growing popularity of Governor Alfred E. Smith. The public can well afford to keep its eye on the modest, clear-thinking, patriotic, fighting, laurel-laden Theodore Roosevelt.—Duluth News-Tribune.

1918 COTTON CROP WORTH TWO BILLION

The 1918 cotton crop, lint and seed, was worth $2,067,000,000 to the producers. This is about three times the value of the cotton crop of 1914 and is twice the value of the crop in 1913, which had the highest value record. The computation has just been made, at the close of the cotton year, by the United States Bureau of Crop Estimates, based on average monthly prices received by growers and on monthly marketings.

Caught on the First Bounce

By S. M. GREENE

CAUGHT ON THE FIRST BOUNCE

A watermelon raiser down near Norwalk was troubled by passing motorists stealing his melons, so he put a sign in front of his patch. "Warning—Six of these melons are plugged full of strychnine and no body but me knows which ones they are." After that all passing motorists were strictly honest and upright.

A want ad in the Lankershim Locomotive was strictly to the point, as follows—"For Sale, one balky horse, $25 (or $150 if delivered.)"

Up at Delano a list of gramophone records has been added to the books at the city library, and patrons may take them out five at a time and keep them for two weeks or less. And why not? Canned music is just as essential to good human development as canned letter (or literature) and it is just as truly the function of a public library to dispense it to those who would enjoy it and cannot afford to own a large library of it themselves, as it is to dispense good books to them. And besides, it might help to dispel the taste for jazz. That would pay for the expense many times over.

We can make fun of other people's queer names, as our own name is Greene, so we will rise to remark that there is a preacher at Norwalk whose earthly name is DeKay.

Down at Calexico the Chronicle advertises a bathing suit dance in poetic lines, as follows: "Quit your work and take a chance. Come and see the bathing girl dance."

We have no idea what the affair is going to be, but whaddya mean "take a chance." Brer Chronicle! Would it really pay to come down?

The Inglewood News speaks of one of the undertakers there as "our popular funeral director." We'll bet that's more than even the most sanguine funeral director ever hoped to be.

Up at Santa Barbara a number of local people interested in child welfare paid the expenses of a summer camp for poor children, which closed recently with an average gain of about ten pounds per child in avoirdupois. Even counting the value of a child as no more than that of a hog, per pound, we'll wager the results paid for the expenses. And most parents, though not all, we'll admit, believe that children are worth more per pound than hogs are, even if they don't act sometimes as if they believed it. The Santa Barbara folks work on the theory that a child as well as a man or a woman has to have a little extra meat on his bones and a reserve pound or two of refreshments scattered along somewhere in his alimentary canal before he can get his gray matter to convoluting to best advantage. And in that they are eminently correct. The average person can't do good work, either physical, mental, or moral, if he is hungry all the time. It not only keeps unnatural and unhealthy visages hung up in front of his mental stereopticon, but develops weird ideas like Bolshevism and like crazy creeds.

Two Glendale girls sixteen years of age ran away the other day, according to the News, and married two eighteen-year-old boys from the balloon school at Arcadia. They are no doubt floating around now above the clouds of trouble and worry, and they have a right to do at that age, and the least we can hope for them is that their supply of gas will hold out and that their balloon will never come down.

"Would Christ Strike?" was the title of a sermon preached by a Glendale preacher the other Sunday. All that that preacher or any other preacher knows about what Christ would do if he were here on earth under present conditions, you could put in the left corner of your right eye. It makes a chesty blackboard title for a sermon, trying to guess what Christ would do or wouldn't do, and it often draws a half-column of free advertising in the papers, which often the real object of the sermon than to convert some lost soul or lead straying one to the light. But as to knowing what Christ would do in a street car strike in Los Angeles, or if confronted with modern theatres, or dances, or social problems, or society, cannot be guessed by any preacher, large or small, smart or thick-headed, sincere or fraudulent, because Christ's motives came from an infinite mind and an infinite understanding, and all the guesswork of mortals comes from mortal minds tied down and hemmed in by prejudices and fears and schemings and selfishness to beat the band.

Didn't intend to preach a sermon when we started that, but it makes us tired the way some preachers try to settle all problems and all theories on their own basis and along their own lines of thinking, and want everybody to accept their theories as official and coming down from above just because they select a verse from the Bible as a text.

Another comical name, this time over at South Pasadena. Brother Stick is leader of the men's class at one of the churches there. But if he is a big one and speaks softly, he may be all right at that.

The D. M. Linnard million dollar hotel rumor has reached Santa Barbara. Almost every town in Southern California has now had its turn at that rumor, and the million is still intact.

You'll have to arise airly in the morning to beat the Morning Press at Santa Barbara. It arranged to have a man shaved while riding in an airplane the other day, and then published his sensations during the operation. One enjoyable thing about getting shaved in an aeroplane—you couldn't hear the barber talking to you.

According to the Hemet News, home brewed beer is not a success. The brethren will appreciate this authoritative statement on the subject.

The Imperial valley is at last getting to be a real place. A circus is billed for there this fall.

Corona and Hemet are arguing over which is growing faster. But what's the difference? If each one thinks it's ahead, it will be happy, and that's all there is in getting ahead anyway.

The Anaheim Herald says a mutual rural telephone system is being organized in Orange county, to escape from difficulties with the Pacific Telephone Company. That will relieve them, all right, just like having two wives will relieve a man from the difficulties of only one.

At Alhambra, says the Advocate, people are complaining because the limbs of the trees along the sidewalk droop too low. That's just what came near developing us into a terrible-tempered Mr. Bang. We have sometimes wished to be absolute czar of our home town for just one week and in the rainy season preferred. We'd make every lazy owner of drooping shade trees walk underneath his trees with his umbrella hoisted, three hundred times every hour for fourteen hours a day, to see how he liked the way he was treating other people. That one week would cure for life every tree owner in the town.

Irish-American delegates have not lost faith in the hyphen.—Wall Street Journal.

Scripps-Booth

WHILE many manufacturers have weighted their cars down to the road in an effort to secure easy-riding qualities, Scripps-Booth has obtained this desirable result by scientific balance and low center of gravity, coupled with the use of very resilient springs.

If you want a car that is light enough to be saving with fuel and tires, yet heavy enough to keep to the road at all speeds, you should inspect the Scripps-Booth.

LET'S HAVE— No More Tire Guarantees

- 1—Let's Cut It All Out
- 2—Do a Better Business
- 3—Sell Tires on Merit Only

As we go back to business let's go back RIGHT.
Let's do some things we never did before and quit doing some of the things we have done for years.

As a starter, let's cut out the guarantee nuisance on tires.
The guarantee has outlived its usefulness. It was useful at a time when tires, cars and everything allied was new and the purchaser wanted some assurance that he wouldn't get stung. Under those conditions the better makers instituted the tire guarantee.

And just because the thing was started it is being kept up.
But—ask the first man you meet on the street what he thinks of tire guarantees and see what he says. Either he doesn't know much of anything about it or else he probably is unqualifiedly against it.

There is no more sense in a reputable tire company guaranteeing a tire for 4000 miles than there is in a shoe maker guaranteeing a pair of shoes for the same distance.
A tire either is good or it isn't good. If it isn't good it can't get by at all, and if it is good it doesn't need any guarantee. A guarantee can't make a tire.

A good tire, made by a good company, and sold by a good dealer will give the buyer far more miles than the guarantee covers—if the user has any sense on the tire question. The average man will get nearer 10,000 than he will 3000.

BUT—along comes some wild, reckless driver, whose idea of motoring is to see how near he can come to searing the rest of the world to death. Taken collectively, he can ruin tires faster than the tire companies can guarantee them. He skids around corners, slaps on the brakes to make up for his reckless speed, drives carelessly over bumps and rough roads—and then DEMANDS an adjustment because his tires don't last.

WHO PAYS?
The tire company? No.
The dealer? Not directly.

Who then? The man who is careful of his tires. He pays for the guarantee that is given to the reckless driver. To protect itself against the mad motorist the tire company has to add to the price of the careful user's tire.

And when it comes to a kick the hardest kicker gets the best adjustment.
How much better it would be if tires were sold as other good merchandise is sold.

You would eliminate the grief of adjustments. You would avoid the chance of losing friends and customers. If YOU sold a GOOD tire, and if people bought of you because you have a GOOD REPUTATION you would develop a sweetly running business—and make money at it.

When a shoe man, or a tailor, or a hat man, or any other man, begins to talk about "guarantees" you begin to wonder WHY HE HAS TO GUARANTEE HIS GOODS—and how much extra he charges for his "guarantee conversation."

One of the things badly needed to make the automotive business a real business, and put it on the plane where it belongs, is the elimination of this "guarantee stuff"—which amounts to nothing except trouble.

Guarantees mean nothing but trouble—and trouble costs customers money. The dealer who has sold a guaranteed tire has taken the first step in a career of worry. He is between the devil and the deep sea—the customer and the factory; if the customer kicks and the factory doesn't see fit to adjust the dealer is in a mess.

Let's cut it all out. Let's sell tires on their merits.
If serious troubles develop and it is obviously the fault of the tire, make good in some way.

Let's make tire selling a real business, with real goods and sold in a real way.

Etiwanda

happenings Here and There Gathered by a News Special Representative in and About the Famous Etiwanda Colony

Etiwanda was well represented at Chaffey Monday, sending 21 pupils and a member of the Chaffey faculty over for the very first day. Last June's graduation class all began their freshman year. They are Frances and Dorothy Spence, Ruby Dugdale, Ralph Price, Rudolph Hoppe and Elmer Mueller. Kenneth Emery, who graduated last year at the Rochester school, leaves from here daily and Edward Frances, son of the new principal of our school, also entered from here. In the sophomore class are Donald Mueller, Lester Burbank, Berthold Dugdale, Bessie Troyer and Dorothy Brownless. The juniors are represented by Katherine McClean, Ethel Bilyeu, Hazel Cour and Florence Brownless, while Billy Hippard, Gerald Cour and Flora Hoppe are seniors this year. Isabel Smith, who is making her home in Upland, is in Chaffey Junior College. Miss Katherine Jones, Spanish teacher at Chaffey, is living here and making a home for her father, Mr. J. C. Jones, while Mrs. Jones is away in the hope of regaining her health.

The Etiwanda school began its work Monday morning with three new teachers, Miss Crawford of Pomona in the primary room, Mrs. McClean recently from Iowa in the intermediate room, and Mrs. Frances of Manhattan, Kansas, as principal and teacher of the three upper grades. Eight pupils began eighth grade work, twelve entered in the seventh and all lower grades are well filled, the beginners outnumbering any former class. Annie May Layton, who entered with the primary class, announced when she reached home the first night that Miss Crawford "is the best teacher I ever had." Every one hopes that this year will not have to meet the difficulties that were encountered last season in the way of illness, although the children made wonderful progress last year, considering everything.

The Christian Endeavorers are planning a family supper in the shape of a weiner roast on the church grounds Friday evening in honor of their president, Mrs. Thos. Donnelly, who reached home a few days ago in company with her husband and son, from a visit in Illinois.

Mr. R. O. Bowen, who recently arrived from Imperial valley, has rented the Louthian home on Etiwanda avenue and will live here with his wife and son while working at the sub-station of the Pacific Electric railway. Mr. Bowen feels at home in this part of the state, having been a resident of Upland for ten years.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dilts, who have been living for several months in a cottage on Victoria avenue, moved to Upland the first of the week to a home they have just purchased on Eighth avenue. They were former residents of Kansas but a winter in Visalia and another in Etiwanda was sufficient to win them from the Sunflower State.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Werner and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Donnelly and daughter picnicked at Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles, Saturday in attendance at the Kansas picnic.

Miss Lida Kemp came home from San Dimas for the week-end. She has 32 pupils in her room and finds the work is going to be very pleasant. Her friend, Miss Mildred Loper, who taught with her at Fontana last year, will also be associated with her in the San Dimas school.

Mr. J. C. Jones spent the week-end with Mrs. Jones at Balboa. Mr. Roland Jones and son accompanied him on the trip and stayed for a week's visit.

Barnett Greenlee and Momaru Mikami celebrated their birthdays together Saturday evening at a dinner at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Greenlee.

Mr. C. N. Ross took his guests, Mrs. Isabel Atkins and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hopkins to Cajon Camp for the day Wednesday. On Sunday they returned to their home in Los Angeles. Mr. Ross taking them back.

Mr. Harold Ross has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Morgan Carter, the past week.

Miss Ethel Bilyeu spent Thursday and Friday in Upland with Miss Isabel Smith.

A short business session of the members of the Etiwanda church is called for next Sunday morning at eleven in order to discuss a new plan for church work.

Mr. Lee Stevens, who has been ill with typhoid fever at El Paso, Tex., was better and able to be taken home, but has returned to the hospital on account of a relapse. Mrs. Elsie Bishop, his sister, who resides in Los Angeles, has been sent for to help care for him.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hippard and son Billy spent from Wednesday until Sunday camping in the lake regions of the San Bernardino mountains. Mr. Roland Hippard spent last week in Los Angeles looking up a new location.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Smith left Tuesday morning for San Francisco, driving up in their new Velle touring car.

Miss Zoe Hall, Mr. Thomas and Miss Nellie Wier, of Upland, visited Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Greenlee Sunday. They were members of Rev. Greenlee's church in Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Spafford have sold their Long Beach home and are going to try Imperial valley in the hope of helping Mr. Spafford regain his health which has never been up to par since he had the flu last winter. Mrs. Spafford was Miss Elma Spray.

Mrs. J. C. Thompson and children and Mrs. J. R. Elke of Upland spent Friday at the home of Mrs. Elisabeth Stevens.

Mrs. Henry Pape and nephew, Ross Hickcox, of Pinole, arrived Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. James McNurlin and Mr. Frank Hickcox.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Marquis and son are on their way from Oakland for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dugdale. They are expected to arrive the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sassard who went from here to live in Long Beach have gone to Utah to secure some land.

Miss Hazel Cour of Upland came home for the week-end. She had dinner Sunday at the home of Miss Bessie Troyer.

Miss Helen Klen came back Sunday from a week's visit in Redlands and is making her home with her sister, Mrs. Merrill, while attending the Etiwanda school this winter. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Magg, Fred Lewis and Mrs. Willie Bell Roach of Redlands were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Sunday.

Mr. Fred Gilbert enjoyed an airplane ride Thursday at San Bernardino.

WHY SHOULD THE CHURCH ADVERTISE?

Our readers will find an innovation in the columns of the Leader in the form of an advertisement of an organization connected with one of our churches—and a church too that has been reckoned as ultra-conservative in the matter of publicity or advertising.

Why should the church advertise? What has it to offer to the outside public that is worth advertising? Entertainments are advertised, educational institutions are advertised, the movies, lectures, evangelists, etc.—but up to this time the average church has not seen the light to advertise its various features.

However, you will notice in the daily papers, especially Los Angeles, advertisements of the churches, and if you will attend these churches, you will find them the best attended in the city. Talented pastors, fine music, the same old gospel are all there to draw the people, but they have found it a paying investment to acquaint outsiders by means of advertising what they have to offer from Sunday to Sunday.

The outside public is prone to look upon the church as an institution apart from themselves, interested in its own denominational beliefs, and not vitally concerned about them. When, however, the church is ready to spend money in advertising and make some sacrifice in order to reach them, it will open their eyes to the fact that the church is seeking to reach them—and is in earnest about it.

While the news columns of this paper have been open, freely and without cost to all the churches for any legitimate announcement, and will continue to be, we are of the opinion that the right kind of advertising will impress the public with its great purpose of reaching men with the gospel, as perhaps by no other means.—La Verne Leader.

Mrs. Earl Maurer Honored—
A number of happy affairs have been given in honor of Mrs. Earl Maurer, who shortly expects to move to the Imperial valley to join Mr. Maurer and where they expect to reside in future. One of the most pleasant was given by Mrs. Henry O. Blohm last week when numerous friends were invited to do her honor. Conversation was the chief form of amusement until well late in the afternoon when partners were chosen and the guests were invited to put on their hats after which they proceeded to the home of Mrs. B. H. Spicer where delicious refreshments were served. The table decorations were most artistic. Those who were asked to honor Mrs. Maurer were Mrs. J. F. Sawyer, Mrs. J. B. Goodrich, Mrs. Reid Bordwell, Mrs. R. R. Wise, Mrs. A. M. Wisely, Mrs. Harold C. Moore, Mrs. Elizabeth Moore, Mrs. Hair, Mrs. E. D. Boone, Mrs. V. H. Wilson, Mrs. Harrington, Mrs. H. W. Flowers, Mrs. E. L. Mathews, Mrs. Thos. Nisbet, Mrs. Thos. Harris, Mrs. J. Lynward Grahame, Mrs. G. B. West, Mrs. Chas. Pierce Fuller, Mrs. A. L. Pallas, Mrs. B. H. Spicer, Mrs. John Rarick, Mrs. C. C. Eymann, Mrs. W. C. Cline, Mrs. W. B. Duncan, Mrs. L. E. Alford and house guest.

County Board Meeting Postponed—
Owing to the fact that the Southern District executive board meeting, C. F. W. C., was called for exactly the same day and hour at Ontario as the County Federation executive board meeting had been called at Fontana, the county meeting was postponed one week to September 25 at 10 o'clock. Through the courtesy of the Fontana Woman's club the afternoon meeting of that club will also be postponed to that date.

Mrs. Flowers Hostess—
Mrs. Harry Flowers was hostess last Saturday at a charming appointed luncheon, given at her home on Euclid avenue to the members of the G. T. Embroidery Club, and a few guests. Mrs. Flowers was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Potts. The members were Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. H. O. Blohm, Mrs. Earl Maurer, Mrs. L. E. Alford, Mrs. A. N. Wisely, Mrs. R. R. Wisely, Mrs. Bert Spicer, Mrs. C. F. Troeller, Mrs. Gus Anderson and Mrs. N. I. Hamer of Pomona. The guests present were Mrs. Frederick Wing of San Jacinto, Mrs. Chad Francisco, Mrs. Elmer Matthews, and Mrs. Alford's house guest, Mrs. Son. of Jefferson City, Missouri.

Southern District Meeting—
Mrs. J. J. Sues, president of the Southern District C. F. W. C., has called a meeting of her executive board for today at the Casa Blanca at Ontario at 10 o'clock. The program for the November convention to be held at Ontario will be the most important business before the board.

Musical Evening—
Mrs. J. J. Rosebaum gave a delightful musical evening last Tuesday at her home on South Euclid avenue, to a number of the San Antonio hospital nursing staff. Those present were Miss Charlotte Black, Mrs. Renfro, Miss Gilbert, Miss Bushnell, Miss Smith, Miss Mae Orendorf, Miss Myers and Miss Mattie Clark, of Upland.

Merry Wives—
Mrs. Evert B. Reynolds will entertain the members of her club on Friday afternoon of this week at her home on Third avenue.

Parent Teachers Association—
The activities of the Parent Teachers Association begin next week with an executive meeting when the year's work will be planned and arrangements made for the social tea to be given September 30th at the Tenth street school. This association, which is absolutely non-partisan, exists solely for the benefit of the parents, teachers, and children of the public school system. Every one already a member is urgently requested to ask others to join early, so that the year's program may commence with a full complement of workers. Those wishing to become members can call any one of the following committee: Mrs. F. F. Allen, chairman; Mrs. H. J. Clewett, Mrs. Harold Stickney, Mrs. E. J. MacAlroy or Miss Edith Hanson.

SALUS POPULI

A strike is a clumsy way of settling a labor dispute, and yet it is the only way that, given certain conditions, has so far been found effective. The first labor dispute on record probably took place in the brick fields of Egypt, and difficulties of some sort in the carrying on of industries have occurred ever since.

In an organized modern form, however, the earliest strike seems to have been that of the bakers of New York City in 1741. Here the dispute was one of wages. The strikers were tried and convicted, but apparently no sentence was ever passed upon them. It was until some twenty-four years later that the first regular strike occurred in Great Britain, when the coal miners of Northumberland struck against the system of yearly service. From that time on strikes on both sides of the Atlantic have grown in something like a geometrical progression, until today the very zenith of the strike fever has been reached in the policy of syndicalism to strike as often as possible, and on any pretense, not with the intention of improving the conditions of labor, but for the purpose of weakening the capitalist, and gradually putting him out of business.

Until lately, however, nobody ever thought of a strike of the military services or the police. In both cases such a thing would have been described not as a strike but as mutiny; and a mutiny it remains to this day so far as the military forces are concerned. In the case of the police the matter is not quite the same.

There is, of course, a material difference between the refusal of a civil force to obey orders, and of a military force; and as a result, of late years, there has been some talk of police strikes, which ultimately in actual performance during the present year in England. The example of Liverpool is now being followed by Boston, and the city authorities are faced not merely with the danger accruing from the withdrawal of the forces of law and order in the streets, but with the inconvenience of the sympathetic strike, which has been threatened by other unions in the city. The strike of the Boston police is not, as everybody knows, so much the result of any discontent in the force, though this does exist, as of a determination to put themselves on an equality with all other manual laborers by the formation of a union.

The police commissioner has declared that the police force is not on all fours, in this respect, with the employees of a railway company or a mine, and has declined to permit the formation of a union on the grounds, amongst others, that, if a union were once formed there would be no security against the city being deserted by its guardians in any moment when they were dissatisfied with their conditions of work, or, worse still, whenever the Federation of Labor should think fit to call them out in sympathy with another union.

Now, theoretically, it is difficult to defend the refusal to permit the police to form a union, whilst permitting the railway engineer or the electrician. The railway engineer can stop the transport of the country, by a strike, with as immediate effect as the electrician can stop the operation of the nation's industries. The policeman, therefore, naturally asks himself why, if he is dissatisfied with his terms of labor, he should be prevented from organizing to improve them whilst the railway engineer and the electrician are not only permitted to do so, but have been largely encouraged in doing so.

It is all very well to tell him that he is responsible for the good order of the community, but he replies with the argument that that fact does not increase his wages, whereas the recent threats by the railway brotherhoods have had the effect of Mrs. Mowrer is staying at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Schlatter, of Pomona, for the present. Mr. John Mowrer, of Turlock, arrived for the funeral services.

H. C. L. REACHES HIGH MARK
General increases of about 80 per cent in the cost of living during the period from December, 1914, to June, 1919, were shown in tables made public by the department of labor.

The tables were based on investigations in various cities over the country. In every instance greatest increases were recorded in the prices of clothing and house furnishings. Food advances were of third importance. Figures for the period of December, 1917, to June, 1919, show general average increases of about 20 per cent.

Total increases in the two items of food and clothing, without considering other items in the family budgets, showed enormous increases from December, 1914, to June, 1919. The advance in the case of Chicago is 170 per cent. The same items went up 125 per cent in Detroit; 125 per cent in Cleveland; 140 per cent in Buffalo; 103 per cent in Portland, Me.; 137 per cent in Boston; 151 per cent in New York; 135 per cent in Philadelphia; 128 per cent in Baltimore; 104 per cent in Norfolk; 146 per cent in Jacksonville; 115 per cent in Portland, Ore.; 110 per cent in Seattle; 123 per cent in Los Angeles and 134 per cent in San Francisco and Oakland.

Smaller increases in such things as housing, fuel and light and miscellaneous items lowered the general average increases, general percentages being as follows:

Portland, Me. 74; Boston, 72; New York, 79; Philadelphia, 76; Baltimore, 83; Norfolk, 87; Savannah, 79; Houston, 80; Portland, Ore., 69; Seattle, 74; Los Angeles, 65; San Francisco and Oakland, 65; Chicago, 74; Detroit, 84.

In all instances the increase in clothing prices were greater than any other item. General increase percentages follow:

Atlanta, 23; Birmingham, 19; Cincinnati, 21; Denver, 25; Indianapolis, 21; Kansas City, 20; Memphis, 23; Minneapolis, 18; New Orleans, 20; Pittsburgh, 21; Richmond, 20; St. Louis, 17; and Scranton, 25.

WHY HE WEAKENED
"What's the matter with Flossie tonight?" somebody asked Tessie Tabasco in the dressing-room, indicating one of the girls who was showing unmistakable signs of temper.

"Her 'boy' promised to take her out to dinner tonight, and then didn't turn up."

"How was that?"

"According to what she said, his favorite grandchild is very ill."

New System of Laundry Collection and Delivery Successful in First Week.

Co-operation Appreciated

The first and most trying week under our new system of collection and delivery is past. And it is a source of no little satisfaction to us, that it passed so smoothly, with so little apparent inconvenience to our customers and with so few complaints.

We are particularly gratified, in as much as the ease with which the transformation from the old to the new system was effected proves that the people of the territory we serve are wholeheartedly with us in our efforts to improve conditions in our plant and give a superior brand of laundry service. We have asked for the co-operation of our customers and we have received it.

Without that co-operation, it would have taken us months to make the change, if it had been possible for us to make it at all. But with our patrons cheerfully doing everything we asked of them in the way of co-operation the big change has been made in the remarkably short period of one week.

Our second week started out Monday without a hitch. In practically every case, the bundles were ready when the drivers called and deliveries of laundry picked up last Wednesday were made promptly Monday.

Conditions Much Improved

We are sure that our patrons would feel well repaid for their co-operation, if they could walk through our plant today and see to what extent working conditions have been improved through their instrumentality. Under the old system our employees, at this time of the week, would have been rushing around in a high state of excitement, trying to handle the tremendous amount of laundry that would be on hand at this time. Today, however, everything is running like a well-oiled machine. Our employees know that they have a certain amount of work to do today and they know by working at normal speed that work will be finished by evening.

The result of the new system, therefore, is much more pleasant working conditions for our employees and far superior work and an increased measure of satisfaction for our customers.

Considering the general satisfaction with which the new system has been received thus far, we feel that we are not asking too much when we urge a continuation of your co-operation. All that is necessary to keep the new system working smoothly is for you to have your bundle ready when the driver calls in your territory. We will do the rest.

very substantially increasing theirs. Yet everybody, including the police themselves it is to be suspected, realize that there is a practical if not a theoretical difference that separates their position from that of the railway worker; and this alone should give them pause in accepting the example of Liverpool and of Boston. Yet, as has been said, the fact undoubtedly remains that whilst the trades union have improved their position through the strike, and though the union was actually thrust upon certain industries, during the war, through governing agencies, the police and the military forces are forbidden to take measures as they conceive, for their benefit, which have been adopted by other citizens of the state. And thus the conclusion is reached that there must be something wrong with the strike itself, when a condition can be attained which the ordinary thinker admits is unequal, and yet which the ordinary thinker admits is desirable.

The difficulty, obviously then, lies with the strike. The strike was always an argumentum ad terrorem, and such an argument, however effective it may appear to be, is not based upon Principle. Now whenever resort is made to an argument not based upon Principle, it is simply a question of time how long it will be before the trouble from the use of it reaches a point which is a danger to the state. The Romans had a saying, inscribed upon the Twelve Tables, which has come down to the present day, to the effect that "salus populi suprema lex." Manifestly when the forces of law and order strike, the safety of the public is endangered, and therefore the highest law of the state has been broken. It may be quite true that the conduct of the governors of the state has brought about the strike, but that does not in the least affect the fact that the safety of the public is endangered. What the police strike is going to do is something, perhaps, that neither the strikers nor the public have hitherto taken into consideration. It is going to draw the attention of the public to the fact that the strike is an infringement of the Roman law. A strike of firemen would have the same effect as the fiddling of Nero, even though the story of Nero's fiddling be a notable libel on a gentleman of no character. A strike of milkmen unquestionably endangers the nursery. And so, as a result of all this, the strike begins gradually to develop into what it is, namely, a holdup. Once again, the holdup may have been generated, and even forced, by the conduct of the employer, whether the employer is the state or an individual, but this does not in any way affect the fact that the safety of the public is endangered, and the public is beginning to realize this, with the result that a good many people may shortly be astonished.

When the syndicalist undertook to use the strike for purely selfish ends, for the transfer of the capitalist's business from the owner's hands to his own, without the slightest regard for the public in any way, he forced an issue which, he was short-sighted enough not to foresee, because, like the three tailors of Tooly Street, the conceit of his own importance induced him to believe that he was the public. Fortunately or unfortunately, according as the case may be viewed, the syndicalist is not the public, and the incessantness of his strikes is acting as an object lesson to the public in a way the strikes of the trades-unionist, in the old days, never did. The success of a strike has always been in proportion to the popular sympathy bestowed upon it. The famous dockers' strike in London and the recent theatrical strike in New York are illustrations of this. But, as the public wakes up to the fact that strikes are not to overcome real grievances but are intended really to change the political constitution of the country, or are, in any case, run with an absolute disregard of the public safety or convenience, the public is going, it is to be suspected, not merely to re-enact the old Roman law, but to see that it becomes effective.—Christian Science Monitor.

ANNOUNCEMENT

As this paper goes to press, we are just completing and moving into our new RAW MILK PLANT, on Chino Avenue, two and one-half miles east of Euclid.

Just a word about EAKIN BROS DAIRY. For the past five years Charles and Freeman Eakin have been producing and retailing milk in Claremont. Up to the time this new plant was built on Chino Avenue, their Claremont plant was second to none, and Eakin Bros. have in Claremont an unparalleled reputation as producers of RAW MILK and are known all over the state as TOP NOTCHERS in the Raw Milk business.

We are going to continue to operate in Claremont under Freeman Eakins' management, and Charles is coming to Upland and Ontario to manage their new plant and retail Grade A Raw Milk, Cream, etc., in the Sister Cities.

Eakin Bros.' Upland-Ontario plant is by all odds the most modern, sanitary and best-equipped RAW MILK PLANT in this part of the state.

Their tuberculin tested herd of mixed Holsteins and Jerseys give a well balanced milk which is as good as the best, better than most, and the best in Upland or Ontario. We have a mixed herd because the doctor will tell you that straight Jersey milk is not good for the baby. The baby should have milk from a mixed herd. These cows are all high test cows and give milk which raises a rich cream. The herd is milked under the most sanitary conditions and is milked by hand, absolutely NO MACHINES used.

YOU PEOPLE OF UPLAND AND ONTARIO, when it is a question of your milk supply, you are invited to call upon us for that quality of product and excellence of service which brings entire satisfaction to you and a substantial and permanent success to us.

Sincerely,

EAKIN BROS.,
